available to disabled persons and it would tantamount to the beginning of commercialization process of welfare;

(d) if so, the reasons for change; and

(e) what steps have been taken to safeguard and continue the working of NGOs for the welfare of disabled persons?

THE MINISTER OF STATE OF THE MINISTRY OF SOCIAL JUSTICE AND EMPOWERMENT (SHRIMATI MANEKA GANDHI): (a) and (b) Guidelines for assisting non-government organisations / voluntary organizations issued in June 2000, inter alia, include provisions for tapering off the financial assistance released to those organizations that have been drawing Grants in Aid from the Ministry for periods in excess of 5 years for the same project. These also provide that assistance from the Government shall be limited to a duration of 10 years in case of new projects. The ongoing projects that have been receiving assistance for the last 10 years and above will be given a phase out period of 5 years and in respect of those assisted for lesser period the phase out period shall be 10 years. Where the phase out period is 5 years grants will reduce by an amount of 20% every year.

(c) No, Sir.

(d) Does not arise.

(e) The guidelines provide, inter alia, that new projects in rural areas, projects from locally based organizations with involvement of community and projects of established voluntary organisations in green field areas will be favoured. This is expected to lead to horizontal spread of development alongside sectoral growth in spheres that have as yet received less attention. The coverage for the welfare of the disabled in respect of number of beneficiaries as well as geographical areas served is expected to increase as of result of this initiative.
